Why Human Life Makes Sense: A Proof of Indeterminism and Freewill; An Exposition of Knowledge, Mind, Ethics, Sexuality, Government, Religion, and the Meaning of Human Life Philip Bitar

Have you wondered if humans will ever be able to make sense of human life?

Will we ever be able to understand the fundamental logic of human life in clear terms that make rational sense?

In this book, computer scientist and scholar Philip Bitar explains why human life does, in fact, make sense.

Step-by-step, Dr. Bitar achieves the following:

- Establishes the nature of knowledge
- Proves that reality is indeterministic
- Solves the wave-particle duality and the two most famous Zeno paradoxes
- Explains the volitional and automatic operations of the mind
- Proves that we have freewill
- Establishes the nature of ethical principles and identifies the most fundamental ethical principle
- Explains how the mind acquires sexual preferences, as it does food preferences, by learning
- Explains the nature of sexuality and the reason for traditional marriage
- Explains why redefining marriage to accommodate homosexual mating will destroy the essential rationale for the institution of marriage
- Explains the nature of commerce and the purpose of government
- Explains novel insights in principles of governance
- Identifies a single organizing causal factor of the American Civil War
- Explains how we obtain meaning in life
- Disproves the idea of heaven and hell
- Clarifies the idea of God

Dr. Bitar shows that we can make sense of human life in all of its fundamental ramifications and that these results are consistent with modern science and with the deepest longings of the human spirit for meaning and purpose.
