Book1 :

A string of events has left the entire human civilization to fend off for themselves in a new world. As technology has come to an end, man needs to rely on his natural instincts. As each person begins to learn more about surviving, he or she becomes stronger and is intuitive with special abilities that have been unlocked. As the book unfolds, we will discover how a group of friends grow together despite of obstacles that they face whether it's defending themselves from other groups or dealing with feelings for one another.

Book2 :

April is a schoolteacher who seems to be stuck in an emotional rut. Two years before, the man she loved and expected to marry stood her up at the altar and ran off with her sister. April has not been able to get over the sense of betrayal and abandonment that this caused her.

One day a new kid named Pierre is added to her third grade group. The little boy is a handful. He is disruptive during class, and can't read, write, or add. In a desperate attempt to find out why this child is so out of control, she sets up a parent-teacher conference. Only the father shows up and he seems aloof. When she asks about the boy's mother, he offers no information.

April takes matters into her own hands and begins tutoring Pierre after. That's when she discovers that what she had thought was the result of bad parenting was a broken hearted child searching for love

Book3 :

Abigail Fork has just gone through a bad divorce. Not interested any longer in her job as lecturer at Columbia University and anxious to get away from her unbearably dull life; she takes the most courageous her life, quits her job and decides to go stay with her aunt Josephine in South Carolina. However as she reaches her destination, new complications are awaiting her. Josephine Fork has disappeared without a trace, leaving for her niece a note in which she asks her to take care of her Café Library. Abby is confused and clueless, but manages to handle the café with the help of her aunt's love sick employees Periwinkle and Leonardo. She also meets and gets attached beyond reason to adorable eleven years old Michelle. However what she cannot handle is sheriff Nolan and the inexplicable attraction she feels towards him. Both need to fight the demons of their past before they could dream of a future together

Book4 :

Jake and Rebecca go to the same cafe, and it's obvious she likes him. When he asks her out she panics, which is his first sign that's something wrong, and it's not long before he finds out she's in an abusive relationship.

As he does his best to help her he falls in love, but knows unless she makes the choice to leave her boyfriend there's nothing he can do.

Book5 :

Arnold is a womanizer and the best friend Aidan. Both of them will have to struggle as Arnold will find out he has Stage 2 lung cancer, while Aidan will have a hard time finding the perfect woman. Although successful in their careers, they will find themselves completely off guard. Arnold has a net worth of $248M and he is hoping to have to turn over everything to his only child - Yumi. Unfortunately, Yumi just wanted a simple life.

Yumi vowed to donate all of her father's earnings. After Yumi's mother died, Arnold found out that Yumi donated a huge amount of money which will make him question Yumi's ability to continue his legacy. She wanted to be a nun so she can live a purposeful life. This will worry Arnold causing him to travel to New York to visit her daughter. Aidan will be kind enough to go with Arnold. During Aidan's vacant time, he will bump into Yumi and immediately fall in love with her the first time.

When Arnold found out Aidan likes Yumi, he thought of helping Aidan of courting Yumi. Arnold thought it is the best compromise knowing Aidan is a perfect candidate to run his company. He just simply thought his business will be saved by Aidan. Will Yumi fall for all
