The following are some guidelines that can be used to insure the best speech content and style is presented. Having a clear picture of the requirements of the speech content is very important, as it insures the speech is designed around this feature. Deviating from this would result in content that is not connective to the issues intended and therefore render the speech inappropriate.

The speech should also have three very clear sections, and this would include an introduction, a mid section and a conclusion. All three of these parts are very important and should hold a different significance to the theme. The introduction should ideally be designed around the idea of drawing the interest of the audience and holding it long enough to insure an effective launch into the mid section. The mid section should be where the actual information on the topic discussed is actually presented. This is then followed by the conclusion which should be designed to have to inspire follow up actions.
