Journey Rhodes, was born and raised in a small southern town, where unlike larger metropolitan areas, life is not as hectic. However, certain things are universal. We all have family that drives us crazy and we must all examine ourselves and gauge our Christian walk by a plumb line. That process can be both painful and humorous.

~Quick Tidbit~

"No one can tell me that our Father does not have a sense of humor. He allows trials to come our way. How excellent is hindsight. I had completely forgotten I had invited hell to move into my home. Every home has a flow; created by its inhabitants, but soon it takes on life, becoming a living, breathing entity. When something is amiss, it affects us, just as cancer affects the function of our bodies or a bad burrito affects the function of our elimination process. The man who coined the term "urgent bowel" had eaten a bad burrito. Something wasn't sitting right in my Spirit..."

~Testimonials~

"I laughed from the very beginning of this story to the closing chapter. This book, for me, is refreshing ... because many writers are so serious ... that you can read a whole book and never laugh once."
